Gentleman

yours of the 15th inst was Received Saturday Evening in regards to those coin. Mr S A Cobham was an Englishmen he was a Rich Gentleman Money was no object to him. My wife was his Daughter. & he would not Part with them untill two Days before he Died then he Gave them to Me. the history of them is that thay had been handed down From Lord Cobham that was Burnt at the Stake in all of the Cobhams Family untill thay reached him. his Aunt Alice had them before. She was Rich and Died at his House & he got all she had. Now there is 395 coines. Some are Gold and Some are Bronze & Some are Copper one Silver. it was coroded so that Aced would would not eject it. thay are All coroded but in a Fare State Preservation of Showing good care = as to My Price I have not Put any Price on them, Simply gave what he was offered. the Gold coin I had one tested and it was but 6 K) I think there is 4 or 5 with Dates the Silver I burnt the corosun off and then the Date of 16 can be seen. one Copper has 96 very Plain. then 1000 and Something I Forget. I have had these coin since oct 4th 1870 the old Gent Died oct 6th 1870. My oldest Daughter Maried an English Gentleman last June 16 thay are living in London England. he tells me that those coines are very Valuble. I am not Able to Ride so Far yet. I had La Grippe and Amonia of the Lungs so you can see I was on the good side to get through I am gaining. let Me hear from you by Return

Yours Truly Dr John Sager

P.S. if you want any Reference as to what I state I can give you lots of them, yes the old Gent told me that the Best information the most of these coines was Brout in to Briton with the Cobhams in 1066 when they come with King William

They are evidently Spatula values & not worth pouncing & Plus with - If I can Secure them by Express they will make 5 Pfd.

After 3 Days
